I'm a computer science student with interest in Data Science, AI and Software Development

ABOUT ME

I consider myself a responsible and proactive person with a constant desire to learn, always inquiring and trying to acquire new knowledge and skills. I am passionate about facing problems and solving them, which is why I enjoy mathematics and programming. I'm actively looking for my first experience in the IT field.

PROJECTS

Arda social network

Arda is a social network where users can share posts on different topics, make comments, and follow each other, among other functionalities. The user interface was inspired by X/Twitter and Reddit. The technologies I used were Spring Boot for the backend with dependencies like Spring Security, Spring Data REST, and Spring Data JPA. Authentication is handled with JSON Web Tokens, and the data is stored in a MariaDB relational database. On the frontend, I use React with TypeScript.
